Douglas Cathedral

graceful, radiant & impressive

Majestic in appearance, the evergreen Douglas Fir can grow up to sixty metres tall. The generous dimensions of our long boards give the grain space to unfold. The early and late wood of the annual rings alternate in sublime, cathedral-shaped arches. Accidental accents caused by knots and non-cored wood create a charming contrast, and, as we heavily brush out the early wood components, the overall visual experience is particularly tactile.

The three colour characters are formed from the reddish basic tone of the raw wood using natural pigments and reactive processes: the lightest character is graceful and refined. The medium character evokes a warm, flickering candle flame, while the dark character is elegant and unpretentious.
